Leadership Alphabet

Leadership brought to you by:

MOTIVATION - After Mickey Spillane, author of detective stories, gained his first big publishing success, he decided to work less and play more. He took up residence at a popular seaside resort and partied a great deal. He tried to write but found that ideas wouldn't come. Being financially secure, he wasn't too worried. Eventually, Spillane's financial situation went from comfortable to marginal to desperate. Almost immediately, good publishable ideas began to percolate in his mind. Out of necessity he began to write some of his best stories and continued to enjoy a long, outstanding career. The lesson? Don't rest on your past successes. Keep yourself motivated.

NIP - Great leaders know the wisdom of nipping things in the bud, thereby preventing major issues from emerging. They appreciate the wisdom of Lao Tzu, who wrote the Tao Te Ching over 25 centuries ago, a handbook for leaders in ancient China. Stressing the importance of prevention, Lao Tzu said: "Deal with the difficult while it is still easy. Solve large problems when they are still small."

OPPORTUNITY - Every adversity contains opportunity. Before the Civil War, Edmund McIlhenny operated a sugar plantation and a salt works on Avery Island, Louisiana. Union troops invaded the area in 1863 and McIlhenny was forced to flee. When he returned in 1865, his sugar fields and salt works were in ruins. One of the few things left were some hot Mexican peppers that had reseeded themselves in the kitchen garden. McIlhenny, who was living hand to mouth, started experimenting with the ground peppers to make a sauce that would liven up his bland diet. His creation is known today as Tabasco sauce. A century later, his product is still sold the world over.

Remember the Lessons!

Encourage the Heart

Accomplishing extraordinary things in organizations is hard work. To keep hope and determination alive, leaders recognize contributions that individuals make. In every winning team, the members need to share in the rewards of their efforts, so leaders celebrate accomplishments. They make people feel like heroes.

Model the Way

Leaders establish principles concerning the way people (constituents, peers, colleagues, and customers alike) should be treated and the way goals should be pursued. They create standards of excellence and then set an example for others to follow. Because the prospect of complex change can achieve small wins as they work toward larger objectives. They unravel bureaucracy when it impedes action; they put up signposts when people are unsure of where to go or how to get there; and they create opportunities for victory.

Inspire a Shared Vision

Leaders passionately believe that they can make a difference. They envision the future, creating an ideal and unique image of what the organization can become. Through their magnetism and quiet persuasion, leaders enlist others in their dreams. They breathe life into their visions and get people to see exciting possibilities for the future.

Remember the Lessons!

Challenge the Process

Leaders search for opportunities to change the status quo. They look for innovative ways to improve the organization. In doing so, they experiment and take risks. And because leaders know that risk taking involves mistakes and failures, they accept the inevitable disappointments as learning opportunities.

Enable Others to Act

Leaders foster collaboration and build spirited teams. They actively involve others. Leaders understand that mutual respect is what sustains extraordinary efforts; they strive to create an atmosphere of trust and human dignity. They strengthen others, making each person feel capable and powerful.
